Cos'è la RRI – Responsible Research and Innovation

RRI - condividere le linee di sviluppo e le finalità della ricerca con i soggetti attivi della società

La RRI è un processo dinamico interattivo attraverso il quale tutti gli attori sociali (ricercatori, cittadini, policy maker, business, civil society organizations,...) lavorano insieme durante l'intero processo di ricerca e innovazione con l'obiettivo che il processo e i suoi risultati siano meglio allineati con i valori e le aspettative della società.

René Von Schomberg :

“a transparent, interactive process by which societal actors and innovators become mutually responsive to each other with a view to the ethical acceptability, sustainability, and societal desirability of the innovation process and its marketable products in order to allow a proper embedding of scientific and technological advances in our society”.

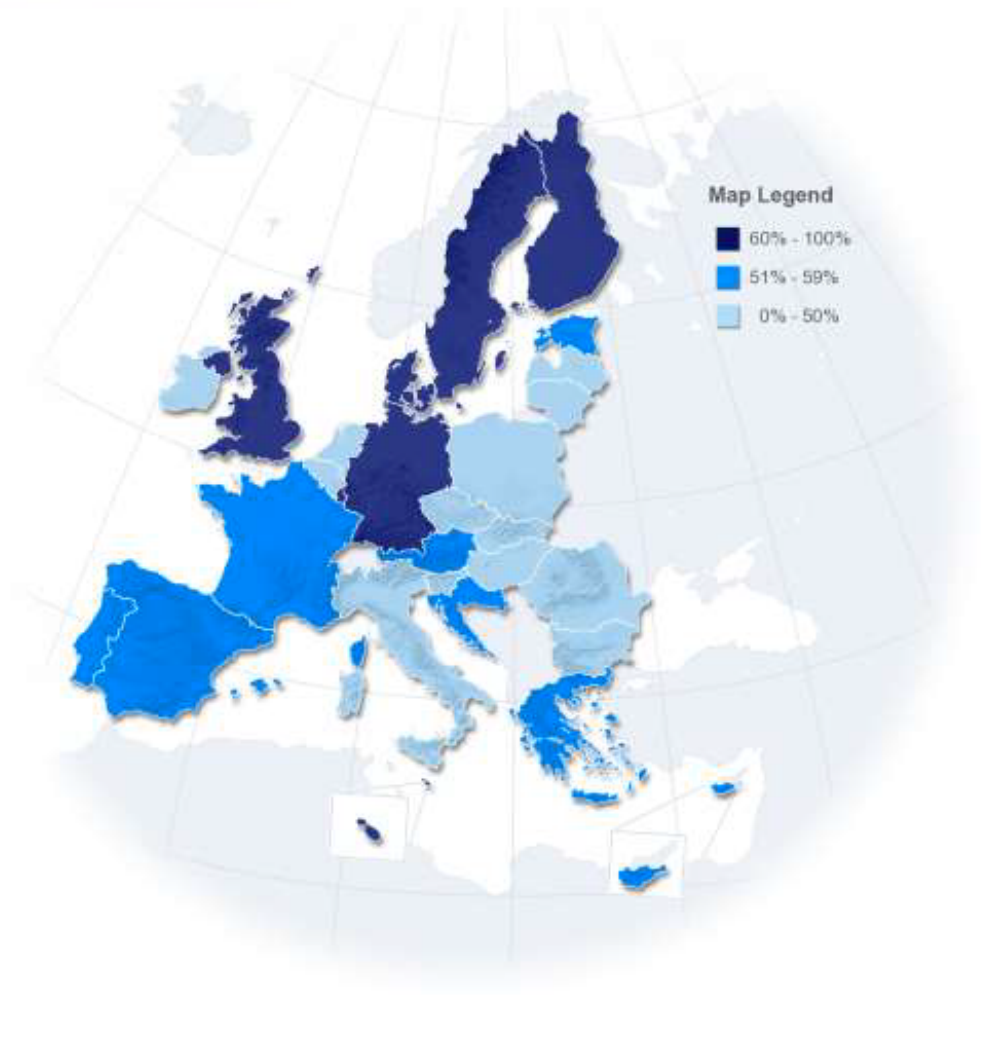

Perché la RRI?

- 77% of Europeans believe that science and technology have a positive impact in society
- 62% agree that science makes our way of life change too fast
- 55% think that public dialogue is required when it comes to decisions made about science and technology

RRI

Responsible research and innovation is key action of the ‘Science with and for Society’ objective.

RRI actions will be promoted via ‘Science with and for Society’ objective via:

- actions on thematic elements of RRI (public engagement, open access, gender, ethics, science education), and
- via integrated actions that for example promote institutional change, to foster the uptake of the RRI approach by stakeholders and institutions.

RRI is furthermore a ‘cross-cutting issue’ in Horizon 2020, which will be promoted throughout Horizon 2020 objectives. In many cases, inter- and transdisciplinary solutions will have to be developed, which cut across the multiple specific objectives of Horizon 2020.

Within the specific objectives of programme, actions can focus on thematic elements of RRI, as well as on more integrated approaches to promote RRI uptake.
